As U.S. Hunts for Chinese Spies, University Scientists Warn of Backlash

China Initiative aims to stop economic espionage. Is targeting academics over grant fraud ‘overkill’?

CIVIL RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS APPEAL FBI’S REFUSAL TO DISCLOSE GOVERNMENT RECORDS ON THE “CHINA INITIATIVE”
The US crackdown on Chinese economic espionage is a mess. We have the data to show it.

The US government’s China Initiative sought to protect national security. In the most comprehensive analysis of cases to date, MIT Technology Review reveals how far it has strayed from its goals.

In the last three weeks, nearly 100 Yale faculty have signed onto an open letter condemning the Justice Department’s anti-espionage campaign, which they say is invasive and discriminatory. Meanwhile, Chinese researchers and students continue to face visa and administrative barriers, chilling scientific collaboration on campus.

We're deeply troubled by the repeated false allegations of spying alleged against AAPI individuals by @TheJusticeDept. Asked the Attorney General about implicit bias training and the China Initiative in today's @HouseJudiciary hearing. Watch our exchange:

I couldn't agree more with @RepTedLieu’s fantastic line of questioning.

The DOJ must put an end to the discrimination, bias, and hate that Asian Americans still face.
